Resolution to Introduce a UBTC (Universal Basic Tax Credit) for Traditionally Unpaid Labour

Whereas there has been a culture of utilising unpaid labour in households across Canada, exploiting many generations of women and domestic partners for their unpaid labour, and

Whereas the adoption of AI (artificial intelligence) by the business owning class and various levels of government is having an effect on working people everywhere, and,

Whereas in the absence of viable, living wage, jobs it behoves society to introduce a Universal Basic Income of some sort,

Be it resolved that the NDP adopt a policy of allowing households to claim up to a certain amount of hours every week of Traditional Unpaid Labour as credit against their taxes, allowing for a return for those who meet the requirements.

Resolution carried unanimously
